But it was nothing more than the old wagon that has been in use for about two years. About forty days ago it was sent to the Central carriage works, where it has been undergoing repairs. The wagon has been practically rebuiltand repainted and it has a much better appearance than it did the day it was new from the shops. Chief Rhodes is much pleased with the work executed by the proprietors of the Central Carriage works. The wagon will be stationed on the bench when the new eagine house is completed

The New Weber River Bridge.

A new bridge over the Weber river west of the city has been a necessity for several weeks, the old structure having become so badly worn and weather beaten that in its present condition it is absolutely unsafe for travel or traffic. The county court acted promptly in the matter and offered to bear a portion of the expenses if the city would bear the balance. The question has been under discussion in the council for several weeks, and every member has favored the building of a new structure. Probably by the next meeting of the council, next Monday night, some definite steps will be taken to have the work begun at once. Some delay has been caused through the body has been caused through the hope that the railroad companies might get interested in the matter and bear a share of the expenses in building a long visduct over all the traces. No encourage ment seems to come from them, however, and the county and city will to doubt be obliged to go absed and build an iron and steel bridge, as first proposed.

Sheriff Beinap presented a petition or memorial, asking that the cells in the county all be lined with quarter med iron, The matter will be investigated and reported on later. There are several desperate characters confined in jain at present and this precaution is considered quite necessary to prevent escapes.

Selectman Poy came in from the new read leading to the La Plata mines and made another report. The read has been pushed through and teams are now passing over it. Coming to Ogden yesterday Mr. Foy counted twenty-seven teams going up after wood on the summit of the mountains. A force of men is at work blasting away the few boulders that remain and by to-day the read will be in perfect shape for ore teams.
